Walk Summary:	This walk is a New Years Day favourite. We will start from McFarlane's Saddle and, after a short walk through snow gum forest recovering from bush fires of 1998, we will turn northward –and slowly descend towards the headwaters of the Moroka River. No wet feet as we won't see any water and we then start a slow descent towards Trapyard Hill. The gradient will become positive towards the hill with a final steep climb to the top. Given good weather, the views are magnificent. We will have lunch at the top. The return will be along the same track, back to the cars. Total distance is about 6 kms.
