Walk Summary:	On this walk we will take in most of the Hoddle trail that is not the rail trail. We will commence this one way walk at the Mount Nichol car park and pass through the Hoddle's diverse indigenous bush flora till we reach the Mount Nichol Lookout and its stunning panorama. This will include great views of Wilsons Promontory (weather permitting of course). We will then follow the track over a stile and pass through part of a South Gippsland Water Catchment property to an old wool shed and exit via another stile. We then travel through regenerating bushland skirting a quarry and will be treated to some great views of the Strzelecki Ranges. Then it's a short section of road before the track turns to a path through farmland and down to the rail trail just on the edge of Fish Creek, hopefully in time for a coffee before the trip home. See photos on next page.
